WEDNESDAY MORNING, JAN. 10, 1866.

om is now before Congress whose Affect is to apply the provisions of the general Bomesteed law to the public lands in the Southern That is, to donate one hundred and sixty of Government land to every man who wil seale upon and improve it. It is roughly estimated that there are one hundred million acres of these lands in the States lying east of the Missis-stppt, and the importance of the proposition is we readily seen. The only objection we have to the bill in question is because of its sectional character. Why make it apply only to the Southern States? All the Northern States have re er less public lands and there is no reason any discrimination should be made. Government never expects to realize wuch from public lands that are left upon its hands in States that have been long settled, and the said States generally get the benefit of them in the way of land appropriations for assisting internimprovements. Therefore, the application of the Homestead law to a State would have the effact of taking away its prospects for such donations in the future. The proposition now before Conse is evidently intended to give homes to the freedmen by these homestead grants of the public why not extend the provisions of the bill to the North, so that the white people of this section will have equal benefit with the negroes of the The public lands in the Eastern and middle States are not worth much, it is true, but in the Western States there is much valland still in the hands of the Government, which would be well adapted for homesteads. The only objection that can be urged against this poliey is, that the Government cannot afford to give lands away. If that argument were tangibie, it would of course apply to the Bouth as forei-My as to the North ; but the truth is otherwise. records of the land offices show that the an nual sales of puide lands in the States are b t Mittle more than sufficient to pay land office ex ss, and hence the Government revenue from source is next to nothing. But even if these lends were much more valuable to the Government than they are, we should still favor their doed farms, and offered to every man who would eccupy and improve them, all the producfive land would seen be settled, the producing sity of the country would be enlarged, and national wealth would be increased and aug-These advantages would more than balance all the benefits accruing to the government from such sales, and in addition would greatly expedite the development of the new States. Theree, we hope that Congress will pass a bill providsestends in the States, not sectional in character, as is that to which we have alluded, but so general that its advantages will not be withheld from the white people of the North.

New York Legislature.

Tan Legislature has thus far been occupied chiefly in preparations for the active duties of leg-islation. The standing committees of the Assembly were not announced until yesterday, and of se none of the bills thus far reported have been considered. The only measure of special consequence to this city, that has been developed in detail, is the proposition to establish a Sanitary Commission, which is designed to have complete and exclusive control of all matters pertaining to the public health. The bill provides for the appointment of four competent physicians, upon whom shall be conferred power to compal sbeervance of all regulations that they may think advisable for the health of the city.

The details of the plan are similar to shose upon which the Police Department is organized, and it is claimed by the friends of the ure that the proposed commission would be mo less successful than the one after which it is modeled. The pressure in favor of the Sanitary Commission is very strong, and the probability is that is will be the next in the series of measures for making New York a tail to the Albany kite. It will be three or four days before any important business can be transacted by the Assembly, as it will take that long for the committees to examine the bills already referred to them. The Senate committees, however, were appointed early last week, and is is probable that there will be no delay in that body.

On Monday the House of Representatives passed e resolution denouncing polygamy, and declaring that "like its twin sister, slavery, it should be swept from the territories of the Republic, if it should require the wholeforce of the government We hope the gentleman who introduced that resolution is gratified to see his name in print, for we fail to see what other benefit his production can have. Everybody in this country knows that polygamy is a stain upon the mora character of the nation and that "it should be swept from the territories." The people need no Congressional luminary to teil them that. They wans Congress to take the requisite measures for wiping out this foul stain upon the nation. How much effect would denunciatory Congressional resolutions have had toward the eradication of Slavery, so long as no decisive action followed? Congress might have passed such resolutions till doomsday without making any impression. The Mormons will only mock at it. They already defy the government to attempt the suppression of polygamy, and it ought to be plain, even to a Congressman, that they will never peaceably abandon the nefarious institution to which they are attached. Congress should provide the means for suppressing polygamy, and not make themselves ridiculous by such resolutions as that

The Fenian Troubles.

The Fenian cause is peculiarly unfortunate. It was organized for the praiseworthy purpose of rescuing Ireland from oppression, and just as the preparations were almost complete for the grand onset of the Fenian bost, dissention showed itself in the camp, thus paving the way for the downfall of Ireland's last hope. But that is not all. The Penians have not ouly risked the destruction of all their hopes by fighting among themselves, but they have incurred a rear attack from the United States War Department. General Swawsey, the Secretary of the Irish Republic, who has also been brevet-colonel in the regular army of the United States, has been lismissed from his position. in the latter capacity, because of his prominent connection with the Penians. This action of Secretary STARTOR in dismissing Gen. Swamper can have but one solutiona determination of our Government to countenance othing that can in any way be construed into an endor- nent of Feulanism. Thus it is that, as is always a case in great undertakings, difficulties thicken and threaten. But it is adversity that trees the metal of an organization as well as of a man, and we shall see whether the Fenians will now continue the quarrel among themselves or unite to meet the accumulating dangers that are turning up against the noble cause of Irish

Death of Elijah F. Furdy

THE intelligence of the death of ELIJAH F. PURDY will be received with deep regret by every citizen of New York, who respects and admires unpretending worth, estimable personal qualities, and unflinching integrity. Mr. PURDY was loved and esteemed by all who knew him, and by those who were acquainted with him only by reputation he was respected for his many good qualities. Few men in New York had a stronger hold than he upon the affections of the community, and few deserved that distinction so well. He was warm in his friendship, kind in disposition, firm in his convictions of right. Generous, sincere and true. He was plain and unostentatious in his manner, but his real worth shone through the unpretending surface, and will long live in the memory of the people of this city.

THERE are very few New Yorkers who have not had experience in dodging street cars and vehicles of every variety. It is well known that the custom of drivers is to entirely ignore the presence of pe destrians, and to make the safety of the latter entirely dependent upon their agility in escaping danger. These things have been impressed upon our citizens very forcibly in many instances, and all are quite familiar with the fact that drivers never think of paying any regard to footmen. But there are comparatively few persons who understand what are the legal rights of pedestrians. A decision upon this point was rendered in the Superior Court of this city on Friday last. A woman who was injured by a car of the Second avenue Railroad company, brought an setion for damages. It appeared upon the trial that, in crossing the road, her foot tripped on the rail of the track, whereupon she fell, and a car ran upon her, causing severe injury. The Court warded the woman damages to the extent of three thousand dollars, and in delivering the decimon, the Judge gave an explicit opinion respecting the general rights of pedestrians and the drivers of chicles respectively. He held that the right to travel upon a street or highway is common to all-pedestrians and drivers alike—the former having the right to walk, and the latter to employ horses upon them. The Judge said that as a matter of law, " it is as much the duty of the vehicle to keep out of the way of the passengers, as it is for the latter to escape being run over by the former." Therefore drivers have no right to monopolize the privileges of the streets as they now do, and foot passengers should make them understand that fact by a few legal expe riences. Street cars, particularly, are a great nuisance in this respect, as in every other ; and since the railroad companies can be impressed only through their pockets, we hope that they will be taught a few practical lessons such as that received in the case referred to.

THE UNION VIDETTE—a paper published in Salt Lake City, whose principles are antagonistic to polygamy-publishes a portion of a letter written by an immigrant convert to polygamy, who was formerly a respectable workingman in the employ of Lawrence & Co., wine merchants of Hertford, England. After a few years' slavery in Utah, he worked his way to Bacramento, California, where he wrote this letter to his friends at home, hoping is would be the means of preventing others in that country from being deluded by the misrepresentations of Mormon proselytizers. He says :

misrepresentations of Mormon proselytizers. He says:

Sir: In my last letter to my mother, I promised to send you a little of my experience while in Salt Lake, which I was afraid to do while living there, as my life would be in danger by a doing. But as I am now in a free country, I can flutter my wings, and can sead to my friends the truth of things as they exist there, without being afraid. In the first place, old men of 70 marry girls of 14 years of age, and in some instances they give the parents of the child a cow, or an old gun, or some other trifling thing. In the next place, a man will marry a girl, and that girl's brother will marry her husband's daughter, and very frequently a man marries two or three sisters; but, worst of all, many go so far as to marry a woman and her daughter, or daughter, as the case may be. Again, the missionsries from there to the old countries targe the emigration, especially that of the females; and many women have, when they had not sufficient means to emigrate with their mole of family, emigrated with their daughters, and left their husbants and the rest of the family to follow them the next year, or as soon after as they can procure the means. In many instances when the man gets there he finds out that his wife is married to another man, and should he be so fortunate as to get there with his wife, he has to keep one eye upon her all the time, or he will lose her, especially if she has the spparance of being a smarr woman; for I can assure you that they are a set of old men, with one leg in the grave and the other out, ciawling round after women, and should they see one that they think they would like, they will tell the poor woman that her husband can't here being a married of an open succeed in getting her away, and the poor man can't help husself. It is the order of the singdom of their God. I have told you how they marry. I will now tell you how some of them lived pretty fair with his women. The other twe lived like devils; they used to fight and call sets other find yo Sir : In my last letter to my mother, I promi

it God owns that people, the devil owns the best. THE Galena (III.) GAZETTE states that the people of Warren county are using eorn for fusi. The reason sesigned is chempness: Corn in the ear gives more heat than the same bulk of wood. Ear corn is worth 10 cents per bushel, and 70 lumbels make a cord, worth §7. A cord of wood costs §9 50, a difference of §2 50 in favor of the corn, with the increased heating power thrown in.

Financial News, Markets, &c.

New York, Tuesday, Jan. 2, 6 P.M.—The afternoon
quotations of the general Stock market, compared with those of yesterday afternoon, show a further decline in prices of from 1/2 to 2% per cent. Govern ments were, by the same comparison, % to % per cent. lower. Gold opened at 138%, declined to 136%, and closed at 139 4. A short interest was made by the recent fall, and the present reaction is quite natural. The money market was easy at 6 per cent. on 7 a 9 per cent. for first-class and good names. grade paper was dull at 10 a 15 per cent. Sterling bills were dull at 108% a 109. On 'Change to-day Flour was 25c. lower en common grades. Wheat was dull, and common 2c. a 3c. lower. Corn was dull and ie. lower. Oats were duli and heavy. Perk was a shade firmer, but not very active. Beef and Lard were quiet, and Whiskey was duil,

Cattle Market.

Bienes.—The market opened yesterday morning with 3,158 head of cattle in the various pens, much of which stock was composed of good, fair State bullecks, with a moderate jematerine of poor, thin oven and rough, unsightly cows. Notwithstanding the meteory ranged from 6 to eight degrees below zero in the unsheltered yards, throughout the day, a moderate amount of basiness was tensected, trade being rendered somewhat lively during the middle of the day by the action of drovers, who, apparently regarded quick sales, even at a slight decime from last week's quotations, preferable to protracted banterings, regarding prices, in the bleek, open yards. Prices, therefore, ruled from 8 to le per pound lower than at the last sale, the scale of prices being about as follows: talks to good, fair average stock; 10 alic for poor, thin oven and consumptive looking cows, and 19a9ac for the very best quality of lat bullocks. These prices continued to rule throughout the opening day, and also represent the quotations of to-day.

Cove and Calves.—The market for milch cows and 19a9ac for the very best quality of lat bullocks.

These prices continued to rule throughout the opening day, and also represent the quotations of to-day.

Cove and Calves.—The market for milch cows and so the present demand exists at present. The supply of good milchers is, however, very small, and prices still rule high viz.: from $20 in limited supply, and command about $3 25 per head, or 12e per lb. A few select lots, however, sold to-day as high as 15c per lb.

Sheep and Lambs.—An improved demand, with no corresponding increase in the supply has tended to advance the prices gof sheep, which to-day are quoted at from 8 to 10%c per lb.
